Goodkind Dental: process documents

The brief, sitemap, homepage outline and keyword map behind the Goodkind Dental website. Goodkind Dental is a fictional practice; the documents are the real working method.

1 · Content brief

Client: Goodkind Dental (fictional): general and cosmetic dentistry practice

Problem: Offers and smile photography can overshadow treatment choices, dental anxiety and the total cost.

Audience

- Adults who have put off routine dental care and want to come back without being judged.
- People with a new dental concern who need to know the appropriate next step.
- Adults researching elective smile treatment who want suitability, limits and a written estimate before deciding.

Goals

- Connect a friendly first impression to visit preparation and comfort preferences.
- Put the written plan and cost conversation before the treatment decision.
- Keep routine care, a new concern and an elective smile goal on separate routes with different expectations.
- Carry each social post into a relevant guide, care page and the sample visit planner, with no countdown offers.

Voice

RULE	DO	DON'T
Give routine care and comfort the same weight as the smile	"Good care. Clear choices. Your kind of dentist."	"Your dream smile starts with us."
Never shame a gap in care	"You don't need a perfect explanation to come back."	"Don't let neglect ruin your smile."
No painless or price promises	"You can discuss comfort, cost and the order of care before agreeing to a plan."	"Pain-free dentistry at unbeatable prices."
Make the cost conversation explicit	"A treatment plan should include a cost conversation."	"Affordable care for everyone!"

Questions the site must answer

1. What if it has been years since my last visit?
2. What happens at a first assessment?
3. Can I discuss comfort needs before treatment?
4. Do I have to agree to the whole treatment plan at once?
5. What will I owe, and what should a written estimate include?
6. Will my plan cover cosmetic treatment?

Constraints

- Fictional brand: an original concept with no operating practice, staff, appointments or prices. MINT dentistry was a public research reference, not a client, and no affiliation is implied.
- No outcome claims: no results, recovery times, "best" or guaranteed language. Pages say what a visit may involve

7. Can I rely on an online slot for an urgent dental concern?

and what to ask, never what care will achieve.

- No patient data online: the planner runs on fictional presets and collects no names, symptoms, photos or uploads. Sensitive care interests never go to analytics labels, URLs or advertising audiences.
- No invented operating facts: clinicians, credentials, fees, accepted plans, hours and availability are left for the real practice to supply. Where the copy needs one, it says “confirm with the practice”.
- Accessibility: target WCAG 2.1 AA (text contrast, keyboard-operable menu and planner, descriptive alt text, a skip link and plain-language headings). Prototype checks are not a certification.
- No promotional offers, membership plans or financing terms without real eligibility, exclusions and commercial approval. Recall timing follows the clinician’s plan, and the site cannot assess a dental concern’s urgency (the homepage says to call 911 for a medical emergency in the U.S.).

Success measures PROPOSED

- Proposed, not measured: treatment-plan acknowledgement (patient confirms they received and understood the written plan), in aggregate after launch. No implication that every plan should convert.
- Proposed, not measured: unresolved billing questions after an estimate, logged by the patient coordinator.
- Proposed, not measured: completion of clinician-directed recall, through approved patient communications only.

Deliverables

- 24-page website: homepage, care overview, four care pages (General dentistry, Restorative care, Cosmetic consultations, A dental concern), three guide pages, guides & offers, costs & coverage, people & approach, a locations overview and two location-concept pages (Goodkind Central and The Neighborhood Practice), sample visit planner, proposed care handoffs, social campaign hub, four social profile previews, about this concept and demo privacy
- Four social profile previews: Instagram, Facebook, LinkedIn and TikTok (local mockups, no live accounts or engagement counts)
- Three ungated, downloadable guides: “Coming back after a while?” (No-pressure first-visit pack); “Before you say yes to a treatment plan.” (Written-estimate checklist); “Bring a smile goal. Take home better questions.” (Cosmetic consultation planner)
- Four-step sample visit planner using fictional presets, ending in a “next step has an owner” handoff summary
- Proposed care-handoff page with a six-stage workflow from visit reason to billing
- Portfolio case study with the evidence trail: decision, test, hypothesis, proposed metric and handoff rule
- Flagship article: “How often do you need dental X-rays? Safety, timing and the apron”

#	SECTION	ITS JOB	WHAT'S IN IT
1	Hero: Dentistry that goes at your pace.	Tell a nervous patient, in one screen, that the first visit can be a talk.	Full-width photo of Maya (illustrative model) relaxed by a sunny window, serif headline with one italic phrase, Book a talk-first visit and Call, three facts: no-lecture first visit, numbing explained first, pause any time.
2	Your first visit, in three steps.	Remove the fear of the first appointment back.	Talk sitting up; a gentle look, narrated; the plan and estimate before anything is booked.
3	Treatments: What's on your mind?	Route by the worry, not the treatment name.	A large card with two friends laughing in the waiting area ('It's been a while?'), then smaller cards: something hurts, told you need work, smile options.
4	The comfort menu: Tell us what would help.	Let patients ask for comfort options before the visit; the front desk receives a comfort card.	Photo of Maya in the chair with headphones and a blanket; the signature comfort menu that fills in a downloadable card.

#	SECTION	ITS JOB	WHAT'S IN IT
5	Costs & insurance: Know the cost before the chair tips back.	Name the dental billing surprise: the plan and estimate on paper before any work.	What the written plan shows (five lines) and four plan questions.
6	Our approach: Talk first. Treat second.	Explain the practice's stance and who handles what, without naming anyone.	Big serif statement, two paragraphs, and three illustrative model portraits: dentist, treatment coordinator, patient coordinator.
7	Visit us: Two places. Pick the easier trip.	Answer where and how to arrive.	Front-desk photo, sample addresses, hours, parking, transit and step-free notes for both places.
8	Pocket guides: Read it before you ring.	Offer the three guides the social posts sell, each ending with what to say on the call.	Three pocket guides with downloads.
9	Asked a lot	Answer the nervous-patient questions that become phone calls.	Judgement, a talk-only first visit, pain and breaks, cost.
10	Follow along	Connect the channels back to the site.	Links to the four social previews and the guides they sell.
11	Ready when you are.	End with one gentle action.	Book a visit and Open the comfort menu; nothing is booked or sent.
