Juniper Women's Health: process documents

The brief, sitemap, homepage outline and keyword map behind the Juniper Women's Health website. Juniper Women's Health is a fictional practice; the documents are the real working method.

1 · Content brief

Client: Juniper Women's Health (fictional): OB-GYN and women's health practice

Problem: Age-based assumptions and pregnancy-heavy messaging can make visitors with other questions feel out of place.

Audience

- People preparing for a first or routine gynecology visit or a specific concern, including anyone for whom the visit feels unfamiliar or sensitive.
- People with pregnancy or planning questions who are comparing care models or transferring care.
- People who want a dedicated conversation about perimenopause or menopause.

Goals

- Give gynecology, pregnancy and menopause care equal room in navigation and on the homepage.
- Make comfort, access and communication preferences something to discuss before the visit.
- Explain clinician roles and keep "result released", "clinician reviewed" and "follow-up completed" distinct.
- Carry each social post into a relevant guide, care page and the sample visit planner, without using sensitive interests for targeting.

Voice

RULE	DO	DON'T
Start with the question, not a life stage	"Start where you are."	"Exceptional care through every stage of womanhood."
Don't assume pregnancy, age, relationship or identity	"Pregnancy care is one path here, not the whole story."	"Ready to start your family? Book today."
Make consent and comfort explicit	"You can discuss the process, preferences and consent before proceeding."	"The exam only takes a few minutes, so there's nothing to worry about."
Leave diagnosis to clinicians	"You do not need a diagnosis to prepare for a conversation."	"Hot flashes? It's menopause, and here's what fixes it."

Questions the site must answer

1. Can I book a routine visit or discuss a concern without knowing the name of a service?
2. Will a first visit always include an examination?
3. How do I choose between pregnancy care models?

Constraints

- Fictional brand: an original concept with no operating practice, staff, appointments or prices. Women's Healthcare Associates was a public research reference, not a client, and no affiliation is implied.

4. Do I need to know what is causing my symptoms before a menopause conversation?
5. How do I ask for an interpreter, a support person or another access preference?
6. Can I book a scan directly, and who reviews the result?
7. Where do results, cost and referral questions go?

- No outcome claims: no results, recovery times, “best” or guaranteed language. Pages say what a visit may involve and what to ask, never what care will achieve.
- No patient data online: the planner runs on fictional presets and collects no names, symptoms, photos or uploads. Sensitive care interests never go to analytics labels, URLs or advertising audiences.
- No invented operating facts: clinicians, credentials, fees, accepted plans, hours and availability are left for the real practice to supply. Where the copy needs one, it says “confirm with the practice”.
- Accessibility: target WCAG 2.1 AA (text contrast, keyboard-operable menu and planner, descriptive alt text, a skip link and plain-language headings). Prototype checks are not a certification.
- Sensitive care topics (pregnancy, menopause, gynecology concerns) stay out of page URLs that could be shared with ad platforms, analytics event labels, social lead forms and advertiser audiences. Keyword work is organic only.

Success measures PROPOSED

- Proposed, not measured: in voluntary usability sessions, whether participants find menopause care or a first gynecology visit as easily as pregnancy care.
- Proposed, not measured: approved aggregate navigation measures (route and guide use), with no sensitive-interest audiences built from them.
- Proposed, not measured: unresolved scheduling, coverage and referral questions logged by coordinators, reported in aggregate.

Deliverables

- 24-page website: homepage, care overview, four care pages (Gynecology, Pregnancy care, Menopause conversations, Imaging coordination), three guide pages, guides & offers, costs & coverage, people & approach, a locations overview and two location-concept pages (Juniper House and Eastbank Rooms), sample visit planner, proposed care handoffs, social campaign hub, four social profile previews, about this concept and demo privacy
- Four social profile previews: Instagram, Facebook, LinkedIn and TikTok (local mockups, no live accounts or engagement counts)
- Three ungated, downloadable guides: “A first visit, on your terms.” (Visit comfort planner); “Before you choose a pregnancy care team.” (Care-model question pack); “Make room for the changes you’re noticing.” (Menopause conversation guide)
- Four-step sample visit planner using fictional presets, ending in a “next step has an owner” handoff summary
- Proposed care-handoff page with a six-stage workflow from visit reason to billing
- Portfolio case study with the evidence trail: decision, test, hypothesis, proposed metric and handoff rule
- Flagship article: “Perimenopause vs. menopause: signs and when to talk to someone”

#	SECTION	ITS JOB	WHAT'S IN IT
1	Hero: Start where you are.	Welcome every chapter of care and give four ways in at first load.	Two-tone headline, one line of reassurance, Book a visit, and four equal photo tiles: Gynecology (Dana Okafor, illustrative model, under an open sky), Pregnancy, Perimenopause & menopause, and 'Not sure? Start with a first visit'.
2	Your first visit: Talk first. Decide together.	Make consent and conversation the first thing a new patient learns.	Full-width rounded photo panel of a consultation seen over Dana's shoulder, with Book a first visit.
3	What you're feeling is real.	Speak to the persona's perimenopause worries without diagnosing.	Photo of Dana journaling at her kitchen table, glass chips (In person, Chaperone on request, One team), link to menopause care.
4	Three things you can always ask for.	Set expectations for the exam and the plan.	Talk first; nothing happens without an explanation; leave with a plan.

#	SECTION	ITS JOB	WHAT'S IN IT
5	Get support for: Start with what's changed.	Let a patient name what changed, which feeds the conversation card.	Symptom cards (irregular periods, broken sleep, an overdue Pap test, pelvic floor after birth, hot flashes, contraception).
6	The conversation card	Give intake a clear summary before the visit.	The signature card: tap topics, add what would help, print or keep it. Nothing typed or sent.
7	Who's in the room	Make chaperones and support people normal to ask for.	You, someone you bring, a clinician, a chaperone; link to roles.
8	Costs: Four moments a bill can surprise you.	Name the women's-health billing surprises.	The yearly visit, prenatal care, scans and menopause visits, each with one question.
9	Guides: Questions worth keeping on your phone.	Offer the three guides every post sells.	Three guides of 11–12 questions each, with downloads.
10	Questions: Asked before the first visit.	Answer exam, chaperone and cost questions.	FAQ with Book a visit.
11	Visit us: Two places to meet.	Answer where and how to arrive.	Juniper House entrance photo, sample address and hours, parking, transit and step-free notes for both places.
